OFFICIAL PAPER OF CROW, WING, CARL, TRAVERSE AND AITKEN COUNTIES, and the City of Brainerd.

POPULATION OF BRAINERD 12,000.

Entered at the Post Office at Brainerd, Minn., as second-class matter.

Brooklyn's directory this year has 180,000 names.

There is said to be but one small herd of buffalo in Texas.

A Norwich, Conn., office door bears a placard, "No Politics Talked Here".

The old Memorial church at Washington has been sold for $120.

The Choctaw militia in the Indian Territory are hunting down horse thieves.

C. R. Jennison, the noted Kansas jayhawker, is dead at Leavenworth.

The pioneers of Oregon celebrated last week Tuesday the settlement of the state.

Mervin Thompson, the slugging is at his home in Warsaw N. Y. He goes to Europe soon.

The flax crop in Minnesota is looking well and a beautiful yield is expected.

A free Methodist camp-meeting will be held at Verndale, July 2 to 3 inclusive.

Last Friday the Fergus Falls thermometer got up to 100; so says Telegram.

The last log of the season has left Fergus Falls on its way down the raging Red.

A Scandinavian Methodist camp meeting commences tomorrow at Southwick, Turtle Lake.

The Chicago Tribune is going to print a serial by Bret Harte, called "Blue Grass Penelope."

S. P. Brown, a delegate in the Maine Democratic convention, was eighty-seven years old.

Staten Island wants a ferry across the Narrows to reach New York by way of Brooklyn.

John Mackey of Atchison, Kan. got a $12,000 verdict for a foot cut off on the Missouri Pacific.

Norwich N. Y., is upset because her best colored people are refused admission to the skating rink.

Cholera has broken out in the neighborhood of Pekin, China. Those attacked die in a few hours.

Nearly all the officers of the Soldiers' Orphans' home at Xenia, Ohio, have been removed, and their places filled with Democrats.

Oscoda, Michigan, is at the mercy of a mob of 1,000 striking loggers and mill men. Business is stopped and troops have been sent for.

Josephs Betzler and wife of Beaver Bay have been married twelve years and are the parents of three pairs of twins, four children who arrived one at a time, and one outfit of triplets, raising the number to 16.

Last May a young bride in Wheeling, W. Va. died and was buried. In moving her remains Monday the body was found lying face down, and the hands filled with the hair torn from the head of the entombed victim in despair at her terrible fate. The family of the unfortunate young lady are nearly crazy with grief.

Frightful Cloud Burete.

HELENA, MONT. June 23.—Yesterday a cloud burst occurred on a mountain side near Corbin, twenty miles south of Helena. Water eight feet deep rushed down the gulch toward Jefferson City, in its course washing away a Chinese house and drowning three occupants. An alarm was telephoned down to Jefferson from Corbin, and part of the people found refuge on a hill near by, while others sought second floors. The water spread before reaching the town and when it passed through the streets was not deep enough to sweep any but a few small frame houses, and nobody was drowned. A quarter of a mile of the Helena & Jefferson railroad was washed out. Much damage was done to goods in stores and crops on ranches.

General Crook's Indian Policy.

General Crook is not an orator but his address at West Point did not lack eloquence, and its treatment of the Indian question was one of the most important declarations on that subject the country has recently received. He told the cadets that the United States Army is likely, hereafter, "to be hardly more than a national police" and he condensed into one paragraph the doctrine which the nation needs most to consider, as to the Indians, as follows: "War with Indian tribes can never assume formidable dimensions. The savage is more ready to accept civilization than civilization is to accept him. With all his faults, and he has many, the American Indian is not half so black as he has been painted. He is cruel in war, treacherous at times and not over cleanly. But so were our forefathers. His nature, however, is responsive to a treatment which assures him that it is based upon justice, truth, honesty, and common sense; it is not impossible that with a fair and square system of dealing with him, the American Indian would make a better citizen than many who neglect the duties and abuse the privileges of that proud title." When the people are as ready to accept the Indian as a citizen as the Indian is to accept civilization, provision will speedily be made for the instruction of all the savages in the ways of civilized life, and a reward of land, cattle and tools will be offered to all Indians who qualify themselves to manage a farm. It is folly to continue to pay about $25,000,000 a year to feed and fight Indians, when a less annual expenditure for their education during the next ten years would make them self-supporting citizens.

The Mormons are greatly excited and alarmed over the Senate's passage of the anti-polygamy bill, and will use every effort to prevent it becoming a law. This is the most natural thing in the world. It is usual for criminals to hate and despise the law that punishes and prevents their crimes, and the fact that the Mormons hear in this way on Senator Hoar's measure is only another argument for its passage. It is evidence that at last a remedy has been found that will be of some effect against the polygamy evil. The threats to kill the bill in the House, however, are another matter. With a majority so well disposed toward the States' rights bugaboo, with only a week of the present session left, and with a recollection of the success which the Mormons have previously had in influencing such bodies, the success of the bill is very doubtful.

Unprecedented. The St. Paul Daily Dispatch, the original Blaine daily, will be kept hot and running over its favorite candidate during the campaign. It will be sent to subscribers from now until November 10, for one dollar and a half. This price for a live, progressive daily paper, containing all the news, besides the stiffest sort of republican politics, is low beyond precedent. Large clubs for the daily Dispatch should at once be gotten up, in all towns reached by a daily mail. Send money with names, to The Dispatch, St. Paul, Minn.

NORTHWESTERN NOTES.

IN GENERAL. The Oregon current crop is almost a failure. Many prospectors are going west to the mountain. Cut worms are making sad havoc in some portions of Oregon. The Northern Pacific are now running trains from Livingston to the Yellowstone Park. The State Teacher's Association of Oregon convenes on June 30, continuing in session four days. Many of the fruit trees Yamhill county, Oregon, are breaking down from excessive loads of people. A young lady who has been visiting Modoc County, California, found the inhabitants very generous. They offered her a half interest in a saw mill, a barber shop, a printing office, a gentleman horse, and a livery stable, respectively, to say nothing of two or three ranches and bands of cattle, if she would remain there. MINNESOTA. Kragness wants a hotel. Springfield is to have a grist mill. Whooping Cough is prevalent in Long Prairie. Minnesota produces over one-tenth of the entire wheat crop of the United States.

Mankato is all "torn up" over an order of the mayor to close all stores on Sunday.

The delinquent tax list of Fillmore county will be only about two thirds as long as last year.

The Farmer's Milling association of Maine, Otter Tail county, has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state.

Another venturesome craft has launched upon the troubled sea of journalism in this state. "The topsails of the Rinktorium, clearing from Hastings, looms up above the waves.

They were harvesting ice and hay the same day last week at Sauk Centre. While one was cutting ice two feet thick another was cutting hay two feet high. This goes to show that Minnesota has a climate to suit the most exacting.

DAKOTA. Bismarck has a building boom. Bathgate will build a 30,000 bushel elevator.

Trading in real earnest at Bismarck is quite lively.

The Farmer's Association at Hamilton will build a new elevator.

Creamery business is becoming an important factor to the Dakota farmer.

The Argus says tracklaying on the Fargo Southern is to be completed this week.

The Bartlett Courier is a new publication just started at that town by Allen U. Brevier. It is a promising and newsy sheet.

Valley City Times: A number of gentlemen who have traveled extensively throughout the Northwest, state that crops are in better condition in Dakota than at any other time for years.

WHEN MY SHIP COMES IN.

(Edward S. Rand.) Summer and winter are one to me, And the day is bright, be it storm or shine, For far away, over a sunny sea, Sails a treasure-vessel, and all is mine. I see the ripples that fall away, And the clearest of waters before me; And nearer, nearer, day by day, Draws the happy hour when she comes to me. "But what if she never comes?" you say, "If you never see the treasure gain?" It has made me happier, day by day, It has eased full many aaching pain: It has lent the spirit from every care, Has dulled the ear to the world's rude din; Oh! best of blessings it's been to me, To look for the hour when my ship comes in.

NOXIOUS MANUFACTURES.

Their Destructive Effect—Natures Purifying Power Overlooked. (Chambers' Journal.) A multitude of influences injurious to health spring into active existence with the development of commerce and the growth of luxury. Most of these are evident enough. All the elements, indeed, are equally guilty. The earth, air, fire, and water are all against civilized humanity, and modern science is constantly bringing to light disagreeable facts in this connection. We have long lived in the comfortable belief that Mother Earth was the great purifier. The reverse, is, it seems, nearer the truth. Years after the germs of infection have been consigned to the ground they have been disinterred, and found to be not a whit diminished in virulence. Archaeologists should, we are told, beware of handling newly-found relics, lest, perchance, they should contract some archaic disease. Even the elements, it appears, in spite of their venerable respectability, are objects of legitimate suspicion! Fire, too, has a dreary catalogue of sins to answer for. It not only robs us of the oxygen, of which those of us who live in towns have so scanty a supply, but it gives us in exchange unconsumed carbon in quantities which fill the air with smut. In smoke alone it furnishes us with food for reflection—and digestion—and probably will continue to do so for some time to come.

Again, water is the most insidious enemy of all. The most indispensable of the elements it is credited with doing the greatest harm. In league with unnatural substances, it has developed such an affinity for noxious matter that it appears that nothing short of boiling can possibly enable us to drink it with any safety. The air, too, is anything but true to the long confidently believed in her good will. Her sewers, drains, and chimneys discharge their pestilential exhalations into the air, but instead of carrying these away into space, she receives them only to bestow them upon us again.

The outlook is indeed gloomy, and unless we make some progress in sanitary science, it is not a little difficult to see how we are to continue to support the burden of civilized existence. * * * We have certainly much yet to learn in sanitary science. The old theories are one by one being exploded, and it will no longer do for us to poison the air we breathe, under the pleasing impression that the purifying properties are inexhaustible. Civilization has made such strides that she has succeeded in overturning the equilibrium of nature. The equilibrium must be restored.

"I done spects I got da ager, boss," said a worried looking colored brother to a West End druggist a day or two since. "I done been so hot all las' night dat da ain't no mo' 'spiration lef' on my bones, an' all dis yere maw'nin' I done bin shakin' like I couldn't talk, an' I mortal fraid my teeth mought drop out mo' any minute, da jaws done chatter so."

"Why don't you try quinine?" said the courteous clerk.

"Dunno, boss, 'pears dat ar do stuff. Mus' ha' some kin' o' physic, or it 'pears to me like I die 'fore da night's over."

Presently the aguish darkey departed with a package of quinine capsules, the drug being sold in that form to make the dose pleasant to take. Next day the clerk, meeting his sable customer, inquired how he liked the medicine.

THE BOOK THIEF'S DEVICE.

Hiding Valuable Books, of Portraits and Rare Illustrations.

(New York Letter.)

"The newest trick of book thieves is a most curious one," said a Nassau street book dealer, the other day, "and I confess it took me in completely, although I have been in the business forty years, and though I know a good deal. A very well dressed man came in and represented himself as the assistant librarian of the new public library in Cleveland. He said he had come to this city to buy 20,000 books, among which he wanted to include about forty representative copies of the old theological works printed in New England within the first century after the settlement of the Puritans.

"Of course I gave him permission to look at what I had in that line," said the book dealer. "After examining the books for about half an hour the man went out, saying that he intended to visit other bookstores in the neighborhood. He returned about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and looked again at the books, and then went away, promising to call this morning and make his purchases.

"Just after he had gone I noticed that he had put one of the books back on the wrong shelf. It was a volume of Cotton Mather's sermons printed in Cambridge in 1658, and was almost unique in this country. Taking it down I felt that there was some small substance between some of the leaves, and, sure enough, there was—a piece of wet string laid against the binding just back of where there had been a woodcut portrait of Cotton Mather himself. But the woodcut had disappeared. The rascal had slipped the wet string in during his first visit to the store, and it had so moistened the paste with which the portrait was fastened in the book that during his second visit he had slipped the cut out and put it in his pocket without cutting or tearing it in the least. An examination of the volumes the thief had looked over revealed the fact that he had in the same way stolen seventeen other woodcuts and engravings, the loss of which decreases the value of the volumes fully one-half. For instance, the Cotton Mather sermons were worth $180 with the portrait, while without it I can't sell the book for more than $30. Do I expect to catch him? Well, I hardly expect to be so fortunate."

What do you think the man can sell his plunder for? asked the reporter.

"Well, probably for about $500—perhaps more," said the book dealer. "And I pity the public libraries of the city, for that man evidently knows just what woodcuts and engravings are the rarest and most valuable, and he will play the same trick in those places if the librarians are not very careful."

His Opinion of Empty Banks.

(Chicago Herald.)

"My business isn't what it used to be," said a bank-breaker from New York, who came out to attend the national convention. "All of the gentlemen in the profession are either going to Europe or moving west. I may as well locate out here myself after awhile, for there is no use trying to make a living in New York or New England any more. There's no certainty about the business, and that's what kills it dead. In old times when a cove got into a bank he had a sure thing on a bodie, but it isn't so any more. Some times it's a sharp man a year to get into a bank, and costs him a small fortune to be side. There's this man and that man to be fixed, there's expensive tools to buy, there's board and tailor bills to pay and hard men to keep on a salary, so that in a year's time everything is ready there may be $5,000 or $10,000 invested in the business.

"I had a bank once, a big one down east, that stood me in $12,800, and when I got into it there wasn't enough money in the crib to me pay 50 cents on the dollar. Yet that bank had an advertised surplus and deposits amounting to millions. When I got in I knew the concern was insolvent, and I had had time to examine the books I would have found out where the money went to. A month after I paid the place a visit, the cashier turned up missing, and there was a great sensation over the biggest delinquencies of the century. Now, you see, the only trouble was that the cashier took an unfair advantage of me. He was on the inside, and he had the thing cleaned out before I got there at all. That's what is making my business very risky down east. You never know at what minute you may run against one of these empty banks. Whited sepulchers is what we call them in our business."

Points About Patents.

(Washington Cor. New York Sun.)

The belief of some persons that sugar in paying quantities can be got from cornstalks as well as from sorghum, recalls the fact that the state of Connecticut gave to Edward Hinman a patent for making molasses from cornstalks in October, 1717, or nearly 167 years ago. Senator Platt, who introduced this statement into a recent speech, cited some other curious old Connecticut patents, showing that the spirit of invention was rife there at an early date. There were no devices in the list for manufacturing wooden nutmegs, but in 1783 a patent was given to Benjamin Hanks for "a clock which will wind itself up."

Another interesting point that may be derived from Mr. Platt's tables is, that while in 1790 there were but three patents issued by the United States government, in 1792 but one, and in 1795 but twelve, the issue rose to 21,196. At certain epochs there have been remarkable jumps in the annual list. Thus in 1854 the number of patents rose to 1,759 from only 846 for the previous year, and the gain was held and continued. So in 1866 the new issues were 8,874, but the following year the number bounded to 12,301. Very oddly it never afterward varied 2,000 up or down during fourteen years, the new issues for 1880 being 22,926. But the next year the number suddenly started forward to 15,348, and there have since been steady and great gains. If the re-issues and the designs of last year should be added to the new patents the aggregate would be 23,383.

Canals of India.

(Foreign Letter.)

The India canals are a distinctive feature of the country. They are splendidly built, being intended principally for irrigation, although having locks, so as to make navigation possible. The largest and most important one is the Ganges canal, which cost the government over $2,000,000. It is about 300 miles long, runs out of the Ganges and proceeds into the Ganges again. When the subject of building it was agitated, the British government was divided. Some were for an instant tolerate it, tapping as it did the sacred river of the Hindoos. Then when the work was actually begun they changed their tactics and gravely declared that water ought not remain in or flow through the canal. When the fallacy of this position was shown, they receded from it and contented themselves with solemnly asserting that no native would ever avail himself of the improvement. It is now in full operation, however.

Rare Volumes.

John Jacob Astor has just presented to the Astor library in New York city, ten remarkable rare and interesting volumes. They comprise the "Evangelicalism of the Carolingian Age."

Proportion of Students.

(Exchange.)

Out of a population of 35,000,000, England sends 5,000 students to her two universities; Scotland, with a population of 4,000,000 has 6,500 university students, and Germany, with a population of 48,000,000 has 22,500 in her various universities. The New England states, with a population of 4,110,000, sends 4,000 students to their eighteen colleges and universities.

There is a rumor in England that the Salvation Army is about to organize a hallujah bicycle and tricycle corps.

Mr. Spurgeon calls those persons that dish up the same ideas so many times "cold nut-

CONVENTION NEWS.

What Was Done by the New York Democrats.

News from the Prohibitionists, Americans, Democrats, Republicans and Independents—Butler—Blaine—July's Dark Horses.

SARATOGA, N. Y., June 18.—The true between Tammany and the county Democracy of New York reduced the convention to a struggle in the earlier proceedings. The most important transaction of the morning was the agreement of Tammany, county Democracy and Irving hall upon a basis of representation for those factions. The compromise gave Tammany 31 votes, county Democracy 31, and Irving hall 31. This arrangement was made previous to the day session of the convention.

The preliminary business of organization was transacted and the convention adjourned until 7 p. m. At 9 p. m. the convention came to order again. The committee on permanent organization reported continuing the temporary officers. The decision was received with applause.

THE RESOLUTIONS declare that the Democracy of New York recognize that no issue can be more important than the election of a president whose character and public reputation shall give assurance of an honest, impartial and efficient administration of the laws; that concerning state government this convention adopts the resolutions of the convention of 1874, 1876, 1880, that it recognizes the duty of the legislature to respect the popular vote in 1883 for the abolition of contract labor in prisons, and that it heartily commends the administration of Governor Cleveland.

Judges Andrews and Rappallo, of the court of appeals, were nominated to those positions with great enthusiasm.

The unit rule was adopted. The county Democratic chairmen of that county, leaving 30 for Flower and 1 doubtful vote. Flower's friends, however, do not give Cleveland more than 45 votes, if as many.

After the appointment of the state committee and of electors, the convention adjourned sine die.

Mr. Blaine Formally Notified. AUGUSTA, Me., June 23.—Saturday morning was the time appointed for the Republican notification committee to call upon Mr. Blaine and formally tender him the Republican nomination for president of the United States.

The committee arrived at 11 o'clock a. m., and were received by Mr. Blaine. Finding that the crowd was too great for comfort inside the house, it was proposed to adjourn to the lawn in front of the house, where, under the shade of the spreading elm trees, the company was soon collected and arranged in a semi-circle, Mr. Blaine being in the center of the arc. Gen. Henderson, of Missouri, chairman of the committee, then stepped forward and read his address.

Mr. Blaine stood with his arms folded during the reading, most of the time with his eyes on the ground, but occasionally looking up and looking around at the people gathered before him. At the conclusion of Gen. Henderson's address, Walker Blaine handed his father a manuscript, from which Mr. Blaine proceeded to read his reply as follows:

"MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN OF THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE: I receive, not without deep sensibility, your official notice of the action of the national convention, already brought to my knowledge through the public press. I appreciate more profoundly than I can express the honor which is implied in the nomination for the presidency by the Republican party of the United States. In accepting the nomination, as I now do, I am impressed—I am also oppressed—with a sense of the labor and responsibility which attaches to the position. The burden is lightened, however, by the host of earnest men who support my candidacy, many of whom aid, as does your committee, the cheer of personal friendship to the pledge of political fealty. A more formal acceptance of the service, and expressed, and will in due season be communicated. It may not, however, be inappropriate at this time to say that I have already made a careful study of the principles announced by the national convention, and in whole and in detail they have my hearty sympathy and my unqualified approval. Apart from your official errand, gentlemen, I am extremely happy to welcome you all to my house. With many of you I have already shared the duties of the service, and have enjoyed most cordial friendship. I trust your journey from all parts of the great republic has been agreeable, and your stay in Maine you will find that you are not among strangers, but among friends. Invoking the blessing of God upon the great cause which we jointly represent, let us turn to the future without fear and with many hearts."

Ben Butler Accepts the Greenback Nomination.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Gen. Butler's letter of acceptance of the Greenback nomination for the presidency has been given to the press. In referring to the recent legal tender decision of the supreme court, he says: "The legal tender having become the very foundation of all the business of the people, the engine of property of the nation, it seems to me almost an outrage, cruelly unjust to disturb causelessly a financial question which has been so set at rest with the assent of all good men, as much so as was the question of the right of the man to hold his brother man in slavery. Then he says he is in favor of all the interest of labor, the preservation of the lands of the people for the benefit of the people, the control of agencies created by the government to be used for the good of the people; government regulation of a system of interstate commerce which shall control and cheaper transportation of persons, freights and intelligence, and the protection of all in their just rights and confinement of all to their true duties, to the end that there may be in this country equality of rights, equality of burdens, equality of privileges, and equality of power to all persons under the law."

July Convention Arrangements. CHICAGO, June 21.—The committee of arrangements of the Democratic national convention, leaving Thursday, is a misnomer standing as to the manner of distributing tickets of admission to the convention, has issued a circular to the public stating that the tickets are issued by the national committee as at previous conventions, and that they can not be given as a favor to any person. The hall, the committee says, will have 10,000 seats, and of these 2,000 will be occupied by the delegates, alternate officers and committees. About 400 will be allotted to the press. The subscribers to the fund to pay expenses will receive 750 tickets, and 750 more will be used for distribution among the local committees, city and county officers. It is supposed that 1,250 tickets will be given to senators and representatives in congress, veterans and other eminent men of the country who will attend the convention. Nine hundred and fifty tickets will be reserved by the national committee for delegates. The remainder of the tickets will be given to the delegates, who will distribute them to the public.

The "American" Party.

CHICAGO, June 21.—The National convention of the American party has adjourned sine die. They nominated S. S. Foneroy, of Kansas, for president, and John A. Conant, of Williamette, Conn., for vice president, and adopted a platform favoring the Bible in the public schools, a Christian Sunday, legal suppression of secret societies; prohibition; suppression of polygamy; civil equality of all people living in the United States including Indians and Chinese and election of president by direct vote of the people.

Democratic Possibilities. CINCINNATI, June 18.—The Enquirer has the following list of names suggested for the Democratic presidential ticket: Cleveland and Flower, Hendricks and Howitt, Hancock and Morrison, Payne and Hewitt, Ransom and Butler, Cleveland and Stevenson, Hancock and Lamar, McClellan and Blackburn, Voorhees and Butler, Payne and Butler, McPherson and Bayard, Denver and Fair, Randall and Colquhoun, Trumbull and Price, Curtis and Carter Harrison, Seymour and Follett, Hendricks and Cox, Dana and Hull, David Davis and Curtis, Field and Palmer, Thurman and Cockerill.

Resolutions at Washington. WASHINGTON CITY, June 20.—Great preparations were made for a Republican rally meeting to be held at the city hall. The south front of the court house was handsomely decorated with garlands of evergreen, at the top of each upright was an American eagle, with widespread wings, and over and above all floated the American flag. Back on the apex of the main entrance, surmounting the columns, was a shield with the rising sun coming up from behind and illuminating a scroll on which was inscribed "The People's Choice for 1883." Strings of streamers run from the east and west wings to the center entrance, forming almost a complete canopy for those who sat beneath it. The great Lincoln was not forgotten, his statue, which is directly opposite the speaker's stand, being appropriately decorated with its own kind of surroundings. Speeches were made by Senators Sherman and Mahon, Representatives Belford, Hart, Dingley, Miller and Goff, and by Messrs. Fred Douglas of Washington City, O'Hara of North Carolina, and a number of others.

Conventions Elsewhere. CHICAGO, June 19.—Democratic conventions were held in Louisiana, Georgia and Colorado. In Louisiana the platform favored tariff for revenue limited to necessities of the government economically administered and as adjusted as to prevent unequal burdens, encourage production of the individual and to avoid just compensation to labor, but not to create or foster monopolies; favors the nomination of Tilden.

Florida Independent Democrats met at Live Oak. Twenty-seven counties were represented. Resolutions were adopted denouncing the Bourbon Democracy. F. W. Pope, a bolting Democrat, was nominated for governor, and J. C. Greely, a Republican, for lieutenant governor. This is the first organized independent movement in Florida.

Bloomington, Ill., June 19.—The state prohibition convention convened in this city, there being about 500 or 600 delegates and visitors. The convention was called to order at 10 o'clock by the chairman of the state executive committee, George C. Christian, of Chicago, and after a fervent prayer the preliminary work of the convention was inaugurated. W. H. Tibbals, of Lee county, was made temporary chairman. A. F. Smith, of Decatur, and R. J. Hazlett, secretaries.

Chicago, June 19.—The Chicago convention of the women of Chicago asking not for resolutions, but for a ringing platform of principles.

Bloomington, Ill., June 20.—In the prohibition convention the committee on resolutions reported in substance as follows: Resolved, That the prohibitionists have nothing to hope for from the two old parties, and consequently will appeal to the people; that the liquor traffic is the great curse of the world, and that it is the duty of government to suppress it; that the late Illinois legislature is censured for refusing to submit the prohibition question to the people; that the proposition to educate children with money derived from whisky taxes is not to be entertained for a moment; that the women should be granted the suffrage; that convict labor should be abolished.

The convention at 2 o'clock commenced nominating the state ticket. James B. Hobbs, of Chicago, was nominated for governor; Dr. James Perryman, of Belleville, was nominated for lieutenant governor; a state treasurer, Uriah Copp, of Lodi; and a state auditor, C. W. Kane, of Jersey county; attorney general, Hale Johnson, of Jasper county. After a few more speeches the convention adjourned. Twenty-seven hundred delegates were raised for campaign purposes.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 19.—The state prohibition convention met, 100 delegates being present. The declaration of principles rehearsed the damage of the liquor traffic; asserts the inability of the old parties to remedy evils; and reiterates the assertion of the alleged false count on the vote of any measure affecting the liquor traffic. The Woman's National Temperance union is invited to co-operate.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 20.—The Republican state convention was in session without intermission from 10 a. m. until 9:30 p. m. The proceedings were characterized by intense enthusiasm both for the national ticket and ticket for state officers. Every reference to Blaine and Logan in the speeches of Permanent Chairman Stanton J. Poella, of this city, Governor Porter, Col. R. W. Thompson, and other speakers was received with the most unbounded applause, indicating unmistakably their popularity among Indiana Republicans. Nine hours were occupied in the nomination of the state ticket. There was a sharp fight for every office, and balloting was close.

For governor, Congressman W. H. Calkins, of Laporte, was nominated, receiving 594 against 512 for Col. W. W. Dudley, commissioner of pensions, and 48 for ex-Governor Man Shanks. The scene of enthusiasm in the convention over the nomination of Calkins, who is immensely popular with the young men of the party, was one which has rarely been excelled in any political gathering in the state.

It is asserted in Indianapolis that ex-Governor Hendricks is still in the presidential running.

Patrick Joyce's Brass Tube. LONDON, June 23.—Patrick Joyce, a native of Galway, was arrested at Queenstown Saturday on the steamer Illinois. A brass tube two feet long and four inches in diameter was found in his baggage. The ends of the tube were well secured and refused to open. Joyce was remanded by the magistrate until Monday.

LONDON, June 23.—The infernal machine which Patrick Joyce had in his possession when arrested at Queenstown has been forwarded to Major Majendie, the inspector of explosives. It consists of an outer wooden casing enclosing a brass tube bound with gutta-percha, and leading to an inner chamber filled with a liquid substance. A stopper at the end of the brass tube prevented the liquid from spilling. The whole machine was artfully contrived so as to resemble a small log of wood.

Industrial Difficulty Settled. CINCINNATI, Ohio June 19.—After a stormy session of two hours the Cincinnati iron manufacturers and representatives of the Amalgamated association signed the Pittsburgh scale of prices, and from 2,000 to 2,500 idle men will find employment for another year, at the manufacturers' announcement their intention of re-opening work at once.

Killed by Electricity. BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 14.—Emil Schultze, 10 years old, was killed here while tampering with one of the Thompson-Houston electric light wires. He had hold of a piece of telephone wire which he attached to the electric light wire. The shock killed him instantly.

Connecticut Men for Cleveland. BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 13.—The Connecticut delegates to the Democratic national convention, met here and elected officers. Governor Cleveland appeared to be the first choice of the delegation.

WASHINGTON DOINGS.

Whispered Words of Wisdom Overheard at the Capital.

What Our National Solons Are Doing at During the Summer Season—The End Is Not Yet.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 18.—In the senate Ingalls created a breeze by charging that Brown had inserted in the official report of the latter's speech on the Georgia claim words that were not used in the debate. Bills were reported to increase to $300,000 the appropriation for public building at Erie, and to forfeit the unearned land grant of the Atlantic & Pacific road. Van Wyck offered a resolution directing the committee on judiciary to inquire whether the Union and Central Pacific roads have guaranteed interest on bonds other than those specifically authorized by congress, or have issued new stock in violation of said act. Interesting debates took place on Butler's resolution for an investigation of the banks of New York and on the Utah bill.

In the house of representatives, bills were introduced to give to every honorably-discharged soldier or sailor 100 acres of land, and for the creation of a home for union and Confederate soldiers at Denver. The committee on elections reported in favor of admitting Morey from the Seventh Ohio district. Denster presented a measure to punish the prosecution of fraudulent claims against foreign governments by fine and imprisonment. An evening session was held to consider the deficiency appropriation bill.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 17.—In the senate, Brown signified the recent remarks of Ingalls as a deliberate insult, and contended that senators were always accorded an opportunity to revise their remarks before being printed in the official proceedings. Ingalls retorted that all he had to say in regard to interpolation might be construed as the senator from Georgia chose. A joint resolution was passed to leave to the Michigan fish commissioners a strip of land adjoining St. Mary's Falls canal. Sherman argued against the wisdom of ordering an investigation into the condition of the banks of New York, but suggested a stringent law prohibiting bank officers other than directors from engaging in speculative operations. It was agreed to take a vote on the Utah bill.

The house of representatives, by 155 to 61, agreed to the conference report on the bill for the relief of Fitz John Porter, providing that he should receive no compensation for the period since his dismissal. The deficiency appropriation bill was passed, the chair ruling out a proposition by Randall against political assessments. A bill to amend the Pacific railroad acts in relation to the survey of lands was passed.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 18.—In the senate, the chair announced the final passage of the bill for the relief of Fitz John Porter. By a vote of 53 to 15, the Utah bill was passed. The house of representatives spent the day in considering a bill to extend the provisions of the Thurman act to the Kansas Pacific, the Sioux City & Pacific, and the Central branch of the Union Pacific road. It requires the Union and Central Pacific companies to pay annually into the sinking fund $2,000,000 each, with lesser amounts for the smaller lines. The previous question was ordered and a recess was taken until morning.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 19.—In the senate, when the Mexican pension bill came up, Beck said the amendments proposed were in the opinion of the commissioner of pensions, involve an outlay of $546,000,000. A long discussion took place on Butler's resolution for an investigation of New York national banks, in which Morgan declared that the clearing-house certificates were a fraud and sham. Morrill said the clearing-house had not violated the law and that the certificates were perfectly valid.

The house of representatives passed the Pacific railroad bill, with an amendment to make the Central Pacific road pay interest into the treasury 55 per cent. of its net earnings. The bill to prohibit the importation of aliens under contract was passed without division. The Campbell Morey contested election case from Ohio was taken up and considered, but not disposed of.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 20.—In the senate, a favorable report was made on the bill to amend the act relating to the limiting of transportation of dutiable goods. The credentials of Ephraim K. Wilson as senator-elect from Maryland were presented. The Mexican pensions bill was debated at considerable length, but no action was reached.

The house of representatives, in the Ohio contested election case of Campbell versus Morey, decided to send the former, and he was duly sworn. Bills were passed to reduce the clearance fees levied upon vessels engaged in domestic commerce, and to forfeit the unearned land grant of the Sioux City & St. Paul Railroad company. The judiciary committee reported in favor of appropriating for the relief of ex-Sergeant-at-Arms Thompson the amount of the judgment received by Hallet Kilbourn.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 21.—In the senate when the chair presented the house bill amending the Thurman act, Van Wyck expressed surprise on learning through the newspapers that the judiciary committee had resolved not to act on any measure affecting the Pacific roads. Hoar assured the gentlemen that he was mistaken, and the bill was referred to the judiciary committee. The conference report on the shipping bill was agreed to. The Mexican pension bill went over.

In the house the electoral count bill was discussed and the previous question ordered. The conference report on the shipping bill was agreed to.

Calamities Abroad. VIENNA, June 23.—Hundreds of villagers have been submerged in Galicia by the rising of the waters of the Dniester and Vistula rivers. The city of Cracow is in danger of being wholly submerged. The floods cause a stoppage in the supply of foodstuff for Vienna. Tens of thousands of persons are made homeless in the flooded district.

LONDON, June 23.—The Standard's dispatch from Vienna states that a day at least 40,000 persons were killed and thirty-five miners drowned.

ROME, June 23.—An explosion occurred in the powder mills at Pont Remoli in Tuscany. Thirty persons were killed and seventeen wounded.

The Sultan's Protest. CONSTANTINOPLE, June 19.—The porte is not reconciled to the outlook of affairs in Egypt, and has addressed a circular to the powers insisting that England's self-imposed task of restoring order in Egypt is so far complicated that the army of occupation ought to be withdrawn. The moral authority and prestige of the sultan is amply sufficient, the circular says, to insure internal tranquility. If, however, the powers be of the opinion that extraneous military force is necessary, such a force might be supplied by England, alone, or in conjunction with England, France, Italy, and Spain.

The Great Methodist Divine Peacefully Passes Away. PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—Matthew Simpson, senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church in the United States, died at his home away unconscious, not having spoken since Sunday morning. Sometimes during the last days he was thought to show some sign of recognition, but whether he actually knew that he was being called to his account could not be determined. His wife Wednesday at 8:40 a. m. He passed his last hours, and all his daughters except one, were at his bedside when he died. The cause of death was exhaustion, due to overwork and his great age. All through the day dispatches and messages of condolence came to the house. One was from President Patton and another from ex-President Hayes. Prominent among the callers were Bishop Stevens, Gen. Clinton B. Fiske, arrived from Saratoga early in the day, and took the care of the bishop's funeral rites from his family.

Bishop Simpson was born at Cadiz, Ohio, June 20, 1811, and was nearly 70 years old. He was prominent in his church from the time he was 35 years old, and was also a notable figure during the war of the rebellion for his earnest efforts in behalf of the Union.
